Editor's Column

It's our fault, yours and mine. We elected them: an anaesthesiologist, a professor of mechanical engineering, a research psychologist, one lone business man and they have appointed a housewife, to operate a $1,718,451.30 a year business, our Carmel Unified School District.

So we shouldn't complain when the anaesthesiologist, Dr. Fletcher, chairman of the school board, made this stunning statement, "There is nothing personal in this," in denying for the first time in its 12 year history, the Carmel Youth Center's annual request for money for its director's salary out of the fantastic special tax-supported school district recreation fund. The youth center asked for $5,000 of the $48,000 raised by the ten cent tax we pay the school district for recreation purposes.

Dr. Fletcher and three members of his board decided that "ethically" the board couldn't give the youth center the money because it isn't under school district control, thereby questioning the ethics of their predecessors for the past 12 years. This sudden attack of "ethics" is rationalization, an excuse for an act they cannot otherwise justify to themselves, and nothing to be concerned about. It's common enough in politics. What does worry me is Dr. Fletcher's statement, "There is nothing personal in this." Incredible as it is, I think he really believes "there is nothing personal in this." Never having had to do with employees in substantial numbers, he apparently is unaware of the phenomenon of "office politics." It hasn't occurred to him that in this naughty world a little guy trying to make his job bigger, in jealousy, in his scramble for power and patronage, might work quite hard to get under his control a rival activity, and that he might enlist the aid of the petty, the spiteful, the crusaders looking for a cause, the busybodies, and even a few worthwhile citizens who should know better.

The one business man on the school board, Clayton Neill, voted "yes" on the youth center's request.

"Ethics" alone, though recognized as a nonsense excuse, would have left the citizens with the impression that the four board members still inhabit the world of reality, but when the board chairman announces, "There is nothing personal in this," the community must wonder if the man has been living on Mars.

The youth center will get along without the school board.

The large question, forced upon us last night, is what are we to do about this error we have made in entrusting our very expensive school system to four blind mice.

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department answered a call to the Cypress West Hotel at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They found a transformed had caught fire.

Carmel Postal Clerk Is Interpreter For Somaliland Visitors

Today is a red letter day for Roy Puleo, Carmel postal clerk on leave of absence with the State Department. This morning he departed from Washington, D. C., with two high statesmen of the new Africian Republic of Somaliland for a two months' tour of America. Puleo will be their host, companion, and—since the statesmen speak not English, but Italian—their interpreter.

Interpreting is no new experience for Puleo. Born into a Sicilian family with family members living in several European countries, he learned French, German, and Italian almost as soon as he learned his native Sicilian tongue. English he learned in school and polished it later with the American troops in Italy.

During the war his studies at the University of Catania were interrupted when the Germans requisitioned him as an interpreter. Soon after, the American invasion of Sicily gave him the opportunity to try his English and he succeeded well enough to continue throughout the rest of the war as interpreter for American units all up and down the Italian peninsula.

After the war, opportunities looked slim in Italy for a young man with few funds. So he went to Argentina to join his sister and her husband. Puleo's first move was to go to the American consulate to apply for an entry permit to the United States; the second was to find a job. The latter came his way the next day when he went to work for the American Foreign Insurance Association, translating policies from English into Spanish. The second came four years later when, in January, 1951, he received his American visa and flew to New York.

There he went to work for Pan American World Airways as a traffic representative. Again his language skills were put to good use.

A stint in the Army took him to Fairbanks, Alaska, and eventually to Trieste, Italy, where he

Chitwood Community Speaker Tuesday Over Radio Station

Carmel City Councilman John Chitwood was Radio Station KNBY's choice of a community speaker Tuesday morning at 9:45. In his three minute talk, Councilman Chitwood said:

"Good morning—This is Councilman John Chitwood of Carmel. The Carmel area is growing apace with the Peninsula and so presents a continuing problem to the council, the several commissions and the citizenry in retaining the characteristics of the village.

"But the most interesting thing under discussion is the present status of the Youth Center. The founders of the Youth Center exercised foresight in visualizing and instituting the type of government that has made the Youth Center unusually successful over the years. The center was to be kept free of local politics and so is governed by an adult board of persons representing all the organizations of the village; supervising a youth board charged with all reasonable responsibilities and administrative activities.

"Some of the present criticism stems from ideas that the Youth Center should be operated as a planned, organized and regimented institution. Carmel enjoys a fine school system of both day and night schools plus an expensive recreation program. Therefore the purpose of the Youth Center is to provide wholesome recreation to the youth at times they are not

Council Reverses Planners "No" To Church School

Votes of two city councilmen last night reversed a planning commission decision and gave All Saints' Episcopal Parish permission to operate a parochial day school in the residence zone. Approval came following presentation of a petition protesting the school signed by 121 property owners in the church vicinity, and a map showing that owners of 100 lots in the church area objected to the school on the eight-lot church property.

Three members of the council, John Chitwood, Gunnar Norberg and Francis Whitaker considered the matter. Mayor Frank Putnam, a vestryman of All Saints Parish, and Eben Whittlesey, a member of the board of the Bishop Kip parochial school under discussion, withdrew from any consideration or action. Francis Whitaker, mayor pro tem, voted against the school.

The Reverend David Hill, All Saints' rector, spoke for the parish. A letter approving the school was read from Barbara Scott of San Francisco and a petition favoring the school, signed by 61 persons, was presented.

Persons who spoke against the school were Walter Garden, Mrs. Ralph Johannes and William K. Stewart, an attorney representing a committee consisting of Mrs. Ralph Skene, Mrs. Pauline Tolfree, Dr. Scott Keith, John Schlueter and L. E. Harting. The committee was instrumental in obtaining signatures of property owners in the church area for the petition protesting the church school, also preparation of the map that showed a majority of property owners surrounding the church

Board Dumps Youth Center After 12 Years, Four To One

For the first time since its founding 12 years ago, the Carmel Youth Center will get no financial help from the Carmel Unified School District this year.

Last night the school board passed a motion by Dr. Robert Newton denying the center request for $5,000. New board member Mrs. Herbert Blanks seconded Newton's motion and Clayton B. Neil, Jr., cast the sole dissenting vote.

Although no official reason for the radical change in policy was forthcoming from the full board, comments from individual board members seemed to indicate the reason for denial was:

An ethical, if not legal, problem arises when public funds are handed over to a separately constituted organization not controlled by the school board.

Though the board felt it should not be handing out public funds over which it would then exercise no control, members made plain at several points they are not seeking control of the center.

Dr. Grant Fletcher, board president, summed up his own position by saying, "I have no quarrel with the Youth Center, its board, its budget or anything else about it. Neither have I any quarrel with the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts or any other similar group. But I do not see how this board can go on supporting it (the center) any more than we could turn over money to the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts or any other organization which does 'good.'

"This board is responsible to the district taxpayers for the money it spends and for the policies under which it is spent. We cannot be responsible for the policies at the center, and I don't think we should be."

Only one other board member, Dr. Richard Snyder, spoke on the issue before the vote. "I believe that the center fills an important place in the community. I agree wholly with Mr. McCreery (P. A. McCreery, president of the center adult board) that the center must preserve the principles on which it was founded. It is important that the youth who use the center have a part in its management. But thereby hangs the dilemma we face as an organization charged with the expenditure of school funds.

"I have been waited on by many people in the community who have serious questions about the running of the center and approach me as though this were our responsibility. The real problem here lies in what is almost a subterfuge. We can legally contribute as a public or-

Point Lobos Gets Gift Of Marks' Gibson Canyon

A gift of property bordering Gibson Canyon at Carmel Highlands to Point Lobos Reserve State Park from Agnes, Herman and Andrew Marks of Salinas was announced Friday at the annual meeting of the Monterey Bay Chapter of Nature Conservancy by John R. McDaniels, newly-elected chairman of the conservation group.

Mr. McDaniels stated that a restriction to the gift was that a portion of the Marks land will go to St. John's College, Annapolis, but if not built on by the college within 15 years, the St. John's portion will revert to Point Lobos Reserve.

The Marks gift to the State includes a stand of rare Gowan cypress trees, also a canyon with a stream, redwood trees and other natural growth. Only access to the area will be by a foot trail.

"This property will help to reduce the pressure on Point Lobos Park and furnish a wonderful buffer zone where wild life can find some protection against the pressure of civilization," Mr. McDaniels told Nature Conservancy members.

"The people of this area should be most grateful to the Marks gift which helps to protect the beauty of the coast," he concluded.

CLEAT MARKS

Without a block or tackle being made, Coast Counties Athletic League football coaches and sportswriters decided the outcome of the 1961 season in a dinner meeting at the Hotel Franco in Watsonville. The scribes and the coaches gathered around the groaning board Monday night and came up with Santa Cruz as the likely winner in the A-division of the CCAL and King City as a shoo-in to take all the blue chips in the CCAL B-division. Monterey was given the best chance to cut in on Santa Cruz, with Watsonville capable of making a run for the title if it got lucky. In the B-division, Hollister was given a slight chance to derail the King City Mustangs, but not even the Haybaler boosters showed much confidence that Coach Dolph Casarino's charges could handle the King City powerhouse. In two games so far this season, King City ran roughshod over Gonzales and blanked the strong Paso Robles eleven. Running true to form, the experts overlooked Carmel's defending champions and put Gilroy, San Lorenzo, and Hollister ahead of the Padres. This corner likes the Padres in a showdown battle with the powerful Mustangs. Coach Charley Howell's Pacific Grove Breakers were left out of the picture, but the Red and Gold crew is capable of winning more than it loses this season. . . . Local junior colleges found the outside competition a little sticky in their opening games this season. Hartnell ran afoul of a good Porterville JC eleven and was rudely upset; Cabrillo invited the strong Santa Ana JC to Santa Cruz for a practice joust and was sorry the mail ever arrived in Santa Ana. The Dons unhinged Coach Larry Seimering's gang, 42 to 0, last Saturday night and could have made it much worse if Coach Homer Beatty hadn't pulled off the horses. George Porter's MPC squad took a 32-14 lesson from the College of Sequoias to make it possible for all the local colleges to not worry about undefeated seasons. . . . Coach Dan Albert's Monterey High Toreadores provided the first upset of the young prep grid season when they edged Tom Burt's strong Los Altos eleven, 13 to 12, in the season-opener for both schools. The small Monterey line held its own with the bulky Los Alto forwards provided running room for the swift Toreador backs. . . . Blaming their loss on inexperienced officiating, Coach Bob Walthour's Junipero Memorial Cardinals dropped another one to the Pacific Grove varsity in last Friday night's Peninsula natural. This makes 14 years in a row the Breakers have taken the measure of the Cardinals, but there have been many near-misses in the tense competition between the two schools. Coach Walthour is miffed at the officiating crew because he drew a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty for going onto the playing field to protest a decision. All coaches should be cognizant of the fact that this penalty is automatic unless the coach is entering the field to attend to a player's injury. . . . Carmel High's pony backfield of George Pollock, Steve Fairfield, Ted Leidig, and Dan Holman is one of the lightest in the league, but this gang is capable of giving the opposition fits with brilliant open-field running which can get big yardage with little or no blocking. Grid experts who have seen Holman thread the needle with his on-target passes rate him a better passer than San Lorenzo's All-CCAL Steve Rodriguez.

GEORGE POLLOCK STARS IN PADRE INTRASQUAD GAME

Veteran halfback George Pollock showed why he was an All-League selection in his junior year as he dominated the action in Carmel High's Red and Gray intrasquad game at Bardarson Field last Saturday afternoon. The shifty speedster picked up 182 yards on the ground, scored three touchdowns, and was the heart of the Gray secondary defense. The Grays edged the Reds, 20 to 18, in a well-played game which was relatively free of fumbles and frustrating penalties.

With Bob Palma at the controls, the Red squad took an early lead in the intrasquadder when the accurate-throwing senior quarterback zeroed-in on Teddy Leidig for a six-pointer. The Reds moved the margin to 12 points a short time later when Dan Holman, a refugee from Coach Fred Rainer's junior-varsity gang, strung a touchdown pass into the arms of halfback Lee Oleson. However, the Red lead was wiped out in a hurry when Pollock took charge of the play and blasted for three Gray touchdowns.

Fine running exhibitions were turned in by halfbacks Steve Fairfield, Rick Baldwin, Ted Leidig, Lee Oleson, and Terry Bishop while the quarterback play of Bob Palma, Dan Holman, and Bob Larson showed the Padres well-equipped at the signal-calling position.

Topflight line play was exhibited by Pete Morse, Tony Belleci, Terry Tweedie, Bob Albee, Dave Harris, Dick Loffelmacher, Rick Shively, and Clayton Hilbert.

Carmel's junior-varsity packed too much power for the Junipero Memorial High jayvees and racked up an easy 20-0 win. The Little Padres were plagued by penalties and sloppy play, but still managed to outplay the small Cardinal squad in all departments of play. An Al Nishimura pass to end Phil Zobel put the first score on the board for the Little Padres; Lynden Mahrt got number two on another pass from Nishimura; and jolting Tom Faia took the ground route for the third Carmel tally.

Carmel's varsity and jayvee squads play for keeps this Saturday afternoon when the Gonzales Spartans invade Bardarson Field for a league double-header. Junior-varsity prelim starts at 12:00 Noon and varsity action gets underway at 2:00.

MARK JOHNSTON ELECTED LITTLE LEAGUE PRESIDENT

At a recent meeting of the Carmel Little League Board of Directors, Mark Johnston was elected to handle the reins of the popular baseball circuit for the 1962 season. Mark has been an enthusiastic Little League booster for several years and during the past season was the guiding hand behind the umpiring staff. Dr. Charles Pearson will be the LL VP for the ensuing year with Orville Jones handling the Secretary post and Bill Woolsey the all-important Treasurer. Bob Connell was appointed to supervise the playing field with Joe McEldowney in charge of the buildings and Lew McCreery Umpire-in-Chief for the 1962 season. Three LL Directors, Richard Wright, Richard Rohr, and Lew McCreery were chosen to coordinate activities between the Pony League and the Little League.

Next Little League Board of Directors meeting is slated for 7:30 Monday, Oct. 2 at the Sunset School Library.

CARMEL HIGH GRIDDERS HOST GONZALES SATURDAY

Straining at the leash for some outside competition, Carmel High's varsity and junior varsity football squads are primed for action this Saturday afternoon when the Gonzales Spartans come to town for a pair of league jousts with the ambitious Padres. The Spartans' chances of upsetting the defending champions are practically nil, but Coach Jay Wennegren's charges are noted for their spirited type of play and usually give a good account of themselves in CCAL B-division play. Last Friday night at Salinas, Gonzales lost a practice game to Palma High, showing a light fast team without enough size to cope with the likes of Carmel, King City, or Hollister.

Coach Hadley Hicks has indicated his starters for the league-opener will be Rick Shively and Tony Belleci, ends; Jim Kelley and Pete Morse, tackles; Bob Albee and Dick Loffelmacher, guards; David Harris, center; Bob Palma, quarterback; Ted Leidig, Steve Fairfield, and George Pollock running backs.

Carmel's jayvee team will be

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Monterey Peninsula Concert Association opened its 23rd Season last Friday at the Pacific Grove High School under its capable director, Elmarie Dyke. The program was an unusual one by Milton and Peggy Salkind, a piano duo who were heard two or three years ago at Monterey Peninsula College. Since then, they have attained quite wide recognition and have performed with various symphony organizations throughout the country.

Rare as duet-playing on one piano now is, its vogue was popular in the time of Mozart and Schubert, and in the latter part of the last century was heard in many private homes. As an art form it lends possibilities that the single performer cannot compass, and in piano study is always an aid to a student's development. The Salkinds, a married couple, have developed this art to memorized concert pitch and entertainment appeal.

Their program on Friday, besides Schubert, Mozart, Brahms and Bizet selections, included Epigraphs Antiques by Debussy, composed in 1914, and a sonata by Poulenc written in 1918, which contributed the modern element that suited the artists' type of playing, which was done with considerable emphasis and movement but with a rather tonal sameness in expression throughout. Nevertheless it was a performance of live entertainment, with a facility and aplomb that has increased since I heard these artists formerly. The sold out house responded with demands for more, which included a short Borodin Polka, an Impromptu by Schumann and a Weber Rondo. Particularly pleasing and descriptive was the clever Bizet Jeux d'Enfants. The Salkinds' performances should encourage some revival of fourhand playing on one piano.

Marni Nixon, Soprano, will be the next artist of the series on October 16.

going after its second win of the 1961 season when it mixes with the Little Spartans in the 12:00 o'clock preliminary tilt. The Little Padres are strong favorites to win the junior-varsity division of the B-league and it will take a strong team to upset them. Opening at the end spots for Coach Fred Rainers scrappers will be Lynden Mahrt and Phil Zobel; tackles—Claude Dechow and Grant Pollock; guards—Dave Preve and Jim Markowitz; center—Bill Hill; quarterback—Bob Larson; halfbacks—Tom Faia and Gary Mumford; and fullback—Marlin Fluegge.

BOYLE HOLDS DERBY SPOT

Seventh week placers from Carmel in the Monterey Deep Sea Derby were A. I. Larson, twelfth place with a 13-pound salmon, and E. Heisinger, sixteenth place with an 11-pound, 14-ounce salmon.

Police Officer Walter Boyle of Carmel still holds second place in overall Derby season standings with a 27-pound, 14½-ounce salmon.

HANSSENS PIGEON WINS

A pigeon owned by Maurice Hanssens of Carmel Valley won the Carmel - Monterey - Seaside Racing Pigeon Club race on Sunday. The race was flown from Lovelock, Nevada, a distance of approximately 300 air miles. Following are results in yards per minute:

M. Hanssens of Carmel Valley, 1028.067; H. Heavey, Carmel, 1020.726; E. Barry, Monterey, 1004.523; E. Barry, Monterey, 993.472; H. Jones, Seaside, 967.278; E. Anderson, Del Rey Oaks, 958.189; Mack & Son, Salinas, 957.464; Sykes & Son, Salinas, 934.099; D. Schumaker, Pebble Beach, 738.753.

This Sunday, the Monterey Bay Futurity and last race of this season will be flown from Lovelock, Nevada.

Mary Gibson, Hartnell College student, plans to enter dairy cattle in seven classifications . . . and home economics articles in four. . . . at the Santa Cruz County Fair September 28 to October 1. A member of the Elkhorn 4-H club, she lives with her parents, the Earl Gibsons on Del Monte Farms road near Watsonville. Mary is just one of hundreds of young people entered in the annual fair, held three miles east of Watsonville on Hecker Pass road.

Carmel P. O. Clerk Is Interpreter For Somaliland Visitors

served as an interpreter at the headquarters of the American forces in Trieste.

After Army service, he went back to Pan American in New York City and entered Columbia University. He had to drop out, however, because school and work at the same time proved too much of a burden.

On becoming a citizen in 1954, he travelled to Alaska and got a job as a payroll clerk for a firm installing the DEW line at Point Barrow, Alaska. After this, he travelled for a while in Europe before settling in Carmel in 1957. Since that time, he has busied himself writing a novel which is now in the hands of a New York publisher. A second novel is almost in its final stages.

In early 1960, Puleo noticed an ad in a San Francisco newspaper concerning government employment as an interpreter. In due time, he took the examination and qualified in Italian, although he is fluent in Spanish as well, and speaks French, German, and some Portuguese.

Since his qualification, he has been on a standby basis awaiting assignment. Last week, months of waiting came to an end when Washington called one evening with his first assignment. He flew East over the weekend to arrive in Washington for several briefing sessions before meeting the arriving Africans at the National Airport.

Puleo feels it will be a challenging experience to see that their trip is enjoyable, that they see what they want to see, and that they be spared any needless embarrassment or harassment. Also, he does not overlook the fact that the successful accomplishment of his task may result in a permanent career in the State Department.

However, Puleo makes it clear that his first love is writing.

GOLDEN MOMENTS

In California history—an Indian legend has it that the golden poppy restored warmth and plenty to the land.

In California life—a modern symbol of prosperity is beer, the beverage of moderation. Over 7,200 Californians are now employed by the Brewing Industry. Many more earn income in industries closely identified with brewing—one more reason why beer means better living for all in the "Golden State."

Scholarship Carnival Fashion Show, Dance, This Saturday Night

The Carmel High School Scholarship Carnival, on October 7, will be preceded this Saturday evening by the Carnival Dance and an evening of entertainment that will include crowning of the Carnival King and Queen, a fashion show, a short play and dancing to Herb Miller's 13-piece band. Events will start at 8:00 o'clock in the high school gymnasium and end at midnight.

Each of the four high school classes has nominated candidates for Carnival King and Queen. Student votes at a penny each will decide the winners. All proceeds from the voting will be placed in the scholarship fund. The candidates are: senior class, Steve Harth and Karen Reid; junior class, Clayton Hilbert and Maxa Tadlock; sophomore class, Enborg Halle and Mary Kiger; freshman class, Jay Lang and Vicki Greico.

Susan Shirley and Susie Petersen are in charge of the fashion show. Miss Laura Carmody will be the commentator, and piano music for the show will be played by Mr. Robert M. Forbes. Models will be Niki Budd, Susie Petersen, Karen Reid, Susan Shirley, Mrs. Robert Shirley, Helga Gunn, Maxa Tadlock, Susie Baldwin, Mary Kiger, Sherri Wilson, Jan Ramome, Vicki Greico, Janice Kachavos, Donna, Marianne and Charlene Seaver, Steve Harth, Greg and Peter Benjamin, Clayton Hilbert, Jon Raggett, Mr. Mark Raggett, Enborg Halle, Tom Faia, Tim and Maynard Petersen, Mr. Maynard Petersen, Jay Lang, Mark Nielson and Peter McArthur.

Michele Sherry and Judy Draper will direct the short play that will open the program.

The public is invited to the dance and program. Admission will be $1.00 per person. This charge will be added to the scholarship fund.

The annual carnival and dance are a joint project of the High School P-TA unit and the Girls' League. All girls in high school are eligible to belong to the latter organization. In addition, each class and club at the high school have an individual fund-raising event at the carnival. College scholarships are awarded to seniors from carnival proceeds. Winners are announced at graduation exercises. Last June nine graduates received Carnival scholarships.

School District Board Calls For Bids For $1,500,000 Junior Hi

The Carmel Unified School Board last night authorized School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell to call for construction bids on the $1,500,000 new junior high school planned for the entrance to Carmel Valley.

Bids will be sought "at the earliest possible date" pending a backcheck on the drawings by the state agency in charge of architecture and several other minor details, the board said, but Mitchell and architect Thomas Elston estimated the date bids could be received at November 1.

This would mean that on a nine-month building schedule the school would be completed August 10, 1962.

Board members studied a basic building contract showing $1,110,280 for buildings, utilities and site development only, exclusive of separate contracts for landscaping and other services, then adopted the plan, which contained several alternate proposals which would be adopted as additives if the budget allows after the bids are received.

The board decided on elimination of gutters and downspouts on buildings except where necessary to prevent drainage on walkways, and of a gas-fired incinerator, $8,900 and $4,500 items respectively.

Added if possible will be floor tile in all buildings except the gym, a $10,100 item and carpet in the library, a $4,300 item. Also offered will be alternative choices of a nine-month contract with a $50 per day penalty.

A problem of paying for sewage disposal was at least partially solved last night when members heard Glen Collins of Kennedy Engineering firm outline three alternative on-site sewage plants ranging from $18,000 to $100,000.

At the last meeting Collins reported on a study made for the board on cost of hooking into the Carmel Sanitary District trunk line at a cost of from $90,000 to $171,000 depending on how many other property owners shared the load.

The board has only $25,000 budgeted for sewage disposal. A soil testing project was authorized by the board, not to exceed $300, before a decision is made on how sewage will be handled at the new site.

Also at the board meeting last night trustees heard William Wakefield report on road and path safety in the district, then asked that the superintendent request from the state its plans, present and future, for walkways near Highway One near the high school, especially plans for walkways to be used in connection with a future freeway. The district is also requesting of the State Division of Highways construction of a safe path from Rio Road to Morse Drive.

The trustees ratified the appointment of one new teacher, Suzan Myers, who will teach fourth grade at Carmelo, and adopted a minor change in the salary schedule approved recently by the Carmel Teachers Association, and under which the schedule will be cleared by an evaluation committee.

Eucalyptus, 3 Pines On City Council's Tuesday Tree Tour

Requests to remove three pine trees and one eucalyptus will be considered by the city council on their tree tour meeting Tuesday afternoon starting from City Hall at 4:00 o'clock.

Blair Development Company would like to remove a large eucalyptus on the west side of Lincoln Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues. They claim the tree has ruined the sidewalk and curb in front of their new Lincoln Lane Court, also damaged new foundations and brick work at the shopping complex. If the eucalyptus tree is removed the company promises to replace it with pines.

Ernest S. Bixler wants to take out two pines on Santa Rita Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues because they create a driveway and drainage problem. Removal of the trees would also clear power lines and the leaning trees endanger future building, he claims.

Leon L. Strauss says a pine tree on the east side of San Carlos Street between Thirteenth Avenue and Santa Lucia Street is too close to his driveway, also inhibits growth of his garden. He would like to remove the tree.

COLLEGE GIRLS ARRESTED

Carmel police arrested two college girls from Stockton on a charge of theft Sunday when they found in their possession merchandise from four Ocean Avenue shops.

The girls were Linda Daniels, 20, and Diane Filippi, 18. They appeared in Monterey Municipal Court on Monday and were placed on probation for two years by Judge Harold White.

Found in the girls' possession were perfume, purses, skirts, wallets, lapel pins, blouses and sweaters removed from the shops. They were in the Mark Fenwick store when apprehended by police.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Life magazine is publishing a series of books on the countries of the world, and calling the series the Life World Library. Two are ready to circulate this week, the one on France and the other on Russia. Filled with the beautiful photography for which the magazine is noted, these books are informative and pleasant to handle and read.

Dancing in Petersburg is the title of an autobiography by Mathilde Kschessinka, and in case her name does not immediately strike up a clang of remembrance in your mind, she was once the Prima Ballerina Assoluta of the Russian Imperial Ballet. The value of the book lies not so much in the story of the author's life but rather in the pictures she shows of the Russian Royal family, the more famous dancers of the period, and the last war. Arnold Haskell helped her with the writing.

The Secret Diary from Red China was written between the lines of a novel for reasons of secrecy, and describes the tribulations of a young Chinese teacher. The book was written under a pseudonym, which is probably a good thing, and translated by S. T. Chung, who lives in Berkeley. It is the distressing story of what happens when the Communists take over in a country, any country.

The Shah of Iran has done his life story and called it Mission for My Country. This is a very personal picture of a reigning monarch, including the account of his three marriages and his need of a royal male heir, now satisfied. The illustrations are photographs, and interesting.

Nations of the Modern World is the title of a series of books being published by Praeger, and thus far 16 have been published or are in process. We have just received the one on Japan, which was written by Sir Esler Dening, who is a former British Ambassador to Japan. The book begins with a history in brief of Japan, continues with a discussion of modern Japan, and ends with a section on the role of Japan in the present day world. Not long as books go, but comprehensive.

A collection of the published mad, sick, and fascinating cartoons of Charles Addams is called Black Maria. It came out last year but it is new with us. You, too? The back end-paper is the best. It shows an astonished skin diver nearing the floor of the ocean where lies the wreck of an old Spanish galleon. And from one window, light is streaming out into the darkness!

A healthier humor is that of James Thurber in his Lanterns and Lances. It's difficult to decide which is better, the writing or the illustrations. Perhaps it's both.

There is a passle of new novels, including mysteries, and other delights too numerous to mention. One needs must gaze upon them to form an opinion, and the portal stands open after ten in the morning.

E. M. Heath Paintings In Town House Show, Also Heller Ceramics

Edda M. Heath (Mrs. E. M. Pappel), a member of the Carmel Art Association and one of the founders of its present gallery, will have a one-man showing of her paintings at the Carmel Foundation Town House during the month of October, opening with a tea from 2:00 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock on Tuesday.

Mrs. Pappel, born in New York, studied at Pratt Institute, New York Art School, and Adelphi College. Her seascapes include studies done in New Jersey, Maine, Massachusetts, and California from Carmel south. Flower studies and portraits are also included in her show.

Edda Heath came to Carmel just to spend a year in 1927. She left only to pack her belongings and returned to live here permanently.

Besides Mrs. Pappel's paintings, there will be a small ceramic show of the work of Cecilea Heller, who says she was in the first painting class at the Town House and who lists among her accomplishments not only pottery but painting, leather work, rug hooking and crocheting, not to mention fine stitchery.

DRAMA CLUB PRESIDENT

Nancy Penoyer, a senior at Marymount College, has been elected president of the Drama Club at the women's college in Palo Verdes Estates. She is particularly active in the theatre arts department and plans a career in that field after graduation. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Penoyer of Rancho Rio Vista.

Mr. Johnston

Markham Johnston, retired attorney and husband of Carmel realtor Gladys R. Johnston, died on Friday at his home in Rancho Rio Vista apparently of a heart attack.

Mr. Johnston was born in Sacramento on July 23, 1893. His parents were A. J. Johnston, former California State Printer, and Luella B. Johnston, former state commissioner of education.

Following World War I military service, Mr. Johnston was assistant district attorney in Sacramento. Later he practiced law in the same city as a partner in the firm of Howe, Hibbett and Johnston. Illness forced him to relinquish his practice in 1932 and he moved here the same year. His marriage took place in 1918 in Sacramento.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Markham Johnston Jr. and Warren Johnston of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Henry D. Newman of Carmel; a brother, Robert I. Johnston of Sacramento; and four grandchildren, Michael and Randol Newman of Carmel, Christina A. Johnston of Los Angeles and Markli Ann Johnston of Carmel. Another brother, Alvah Johnston, Pulitzer Prize winner and writer for national magazines, predeceased him.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Markham Johnston may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey County Heart Association, Box 1329, Monterey.

Frank Germond

Frank Robert Germond, a rancher from Rancho Santa Fe near San Diego, died Saturday in a local hospital where he had been a patient since September 12. He and his wife, Virginia H. Germond, came to Carmel to visit friends.

Mr. Germond was born in Saginaw, Michigan, on June 17, 1887. He was a World War I veteran.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Marie Schellenkamp of Saginaw, Michigan, and a nephew, J. Augustin of Menlo Park.

Private funeral services were held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Inurnment was in Fort Rosecrans National Cemetery near San Diego.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Fannie Werner

Mrs. Fannie Werner, 90 years old, died on Monday in a local rest home after a long illness. She had lived in Carmel for five years. Her home was on Perry Newberry Way between Fifth and Sixth Avenues.

Mrs. Werner was born in New York City on October 17, 1870. Her husband, Samuel Werner, died in 1949.

She is survived by four sons, Jerome Werner of Carmel, Morris and Bernard Werner of New York City and Charles Werner of Sarasota, Florida.

Private funeral services were held on the day of her death in Mission Mortuary. Inurnment followed in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

William Harmer

William Henry Harmer, a resident of Carmel for 14 months, died Monday morning in a local hospital after a period of failing health.

Mr. Harmer was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on September 18, 1885. Self-employed as an insurance broker for 27 years, he retired before coming to live here.

He was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, also the Carmel Lions Club.

Survivors are his wife, Myrtle May; a brother, Walter J. Harmer of Atlanta, Georgia; and a sister, Mrs. Nelle Freed of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Private funeral services were held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Claire Crouch

Mrs. Claire M. Crouch of Carmel Valley died on Monday in her home on Panetta Road. She had been in failing health for some time but her death was unexpected.

Mrs. Crouch was born on October 4, 1888. She was a member of the third generation of a pioneer family in Chico. Before she retired and came to live in the Valley in 1953, she was the registrar at Chico High School. Mrs. Crouch was a member of Carmel Chapter N.J., PEO Sisterhood.

Survivors are her husband, Ben Crouch; two daughters, Miss Eleanor Crouch of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Rosetta Smith of Carmel; six grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services, conducted by the Reverend Peter Farmer, vicar of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Chapel, were held yesterday afternoon in the Dorney and Farlinger Funeral Chapel.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The importance of distinguishing between sound and unsound thoughts will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" will include these verses from Psalm 119: "I hate vain thoughts: but thy law do I love . . . Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 288): "The suppositional warfare between truth and error is only the mental conflict between the evidence of the spiritual senses and the testimony of the material senses, and this warfare between the Spirit and flesh will settle all questions through faith in and the understanding of divine Love."

Arena Blanca Poets Plan Year

Plans of Arena Blanca Poets for 1961-62 include an end-of-the-year contest for members, continued sponsorship with the Pine Cone of the annual poetry contest for Monterey Peninsula high school students, and, as a new monthly program feature, a half hour of original poetry readings by members.

The local chapter of the California Federation of Chaparral Poets met last Thursday evening at the home of Arthur and Jerry Wild, with Frances Gordon and Nancy Probasco as co-hostesses. Welcomed into the group was Vivian Wilkinson, former member of the Tecolote Chapter in Oakland.

Hascal Stewart and Arthur Wild initiated the series of poetry readings. Mr. Wild read both light verse and serious poetry that he has had published in magazines and newspapers, including the Pine Cone.

Catherine Ramsey gave a report on the poet Wallace Stevens, based on his book Opus Posthumous.

Blanche Moke, president, has appointed Alma Anderson, hospitality chairman; Lois Wilson, historian; Olivia Young, contest chairman; Olive Beidleman, parliamentarian; and Bernice Minarik, press chairman. Mrs. Young and Mrs. Beidleman are on the program planning committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hascal Stewart, first vice-president. Mrs. Catherine Ramsey, second vice-president, is membership chairman.

Mrs. Moke has sold a poem to a children's magazine, and both she and Mrs. Young won honorable mention in an international Poet's Workshop contest.

Mrs. Frances Gordon reported briefly on the summer writers' conference she attended at Santa Clara University.

Seaman Anthony Steliga, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Steliga of Carmel Valley, took part in Exercise Sea Wall, a joint Army, Navy and Air Force amphibious maneuver on San Juan Island, Washington, that ended a week ago. He was a crew member of the USS Fort Marion, a dock landing ship.

Carmel Woman's Club Meeting

The first general meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club under the presidency of Mrs. Fanchon Freeman will be Monday, 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, in the clubhouse at Ninth Avenue and San Carlos Street.

Miss Caroline Leonetti, for the past 12 years head of the department of psychology and personality development at Marymount College in Los Angeles, will be the speaker; her topic, Woman's Place.

She is proprietor of the largest women's center and school of personal charm in the West and has produced fashion shows for large conventions and apparel guilds. A native Californian, Miss Leonetti won a scholarship at the California School of Design. Later she designed clothes for stage plays and costumes for motion picture actresses. She is particularly interested in diet, exercise and nutrition.

Symphony Guild Plaza Party

Encore to Opus I is the name the Monterey County Symphony Guild has given to their second fund raising party to be held in Carmel Plaza on October 27 at 6:00 o'clock. The affair is planned with four events corresponding to movements in a symphony. They are: Overture, cocktails; Allegro, buffet dinner; Scherzo, fashion show; Rondo finale, dancing.

Last year the Symphony Guild raised $6,000 to support the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra with a Champagne Preview party at Carmel Plaza. Tickets for this year's party will be for sale shortly, according to Mrs. David Gill, Symphony Guild president.

Ann Thoeni September Bride

First Lieutenant and Mrs. Richard Barak Fisher passed under an arch of sabres as they left St. John's Chapel, Del Monte, following their marriage on September 9. Fellow officers of the bridegroom who held the swords were Major John Fatum, Captain Marcus Moreman, Lieutenant Eleas Cozanitis, Lieutenant Peter Geiger, Lieutenant George Krausz and Lieutenant Gerald Sullivan.

Mrs. Fisher is the former Ann Thoeni, daughter of Mrs. Milton Edward Thoeni of Carmel and the late Mr. Thoeni. She was a student at Carmel High School before attending Schmitz School of Piano in San Francisco and is now secretary for a local insurance firm.

Her husband, a student at the U.S. Army Language School, is the son of Don A. Fisher of Falls Church, Virginia, and the late Mrs. Fisher. He attended Harvard College prior to entering military service.

The Reverend Bernard N. Lovgren performed the Episcopal marriage service at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. White gladioli and stock decorated the altar. Given in wedlock by her uncle, Dr. Manley J. Wham of Chelan, Washington, the bride entered the church to Purcell's Wedding March and left with her husband to recessional music of Bloch's Trumpet Tune, both played on the organ by Robert M. Forbes, her former music teacher.

She wore an off-white cloud satin gown with high circlet neckline, Empire bodice embroidered with pearls and crystals and a cathedral train. Her veil of imported French illusion fell from a shallow pillbox hat of appliqued lace flowers dotted and roped with pearls. White roses and stephanotis were combined in her bridal bouquet and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. She received two traditional good luck sixpences for her wedding, one from Mrs. Grace Fontes, the other from Mrs. Paul Spink.

Her cousin, Miss Cynthia E. Wham of Chelan, Washington, attended her as maid of honor. Her other attendants were Miss Dorothy Hodsdon and Mrs. George Schroeder. They were dressed alike in Dior bow trimmed radiant turquoise satin sheath dresses with matching overskirts, also matching satin head bows with short veils and carried three long-stemmed pink anthuriums tied with pale pink ribbons.

Edmund F. Becker Jr. of Chicago, Illinois, was best man for the bridegroom. Ushers were Captain C. Peyton Rufe and CWO Joe Vladich.

Mrs. Thoeni attended her daughter's wedding in a Copenhagen blue silk brocade sheath dress with matching jacket and velvet hat and bone-colored accessories.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. I. W. Linder of San Diego, was clad in a champagne silk faille dress and matching accessories.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the Officers' Open Mess at the Presidio of Monterey. After the bride and bridegroom had cut their three-tiered cake topped with a pair of Copenhagen porcelain lovebirds, they left for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and are now at home in Monterey. For traveling the bride wore a grey wool suit, a shocking pink cloche hat and navy accessories.

Out of town guests at the marriage were Mrs. Edmund F. Becker Jr. of Chicago, Illinois; Mr. Don A. Fisher, Falls Church, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reed, Lomita; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Doering, San Mateo; Miss Martha Buoen, San Francisco; and Mrs. Roger Hodsdon, Mrs. Betty Brown and William Brown, Los Gatos.

Patty Hinton Carmel High Senior

Enjoying life at Carmel High School as a member of the senior class is Patty Hinton of Cuernavaca, Mexico. She will be here all of the school year as the guest of her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Milton Benjamin, and their twin sons, Peter and Greg, also Carmel High School seniors.

Blonde, blue-eyed Patty was born in Monterrey, Mexico, and is a Mexican citizen although her mother was a British citizen and her father a Canadian. She has been a student at the English School in Cuernavaca, "A very, very small school," and she finds Carmel High School "a very big school." Patty adds that she likes the students at Carmel High although she thinks, so far, that they do not display as much school spirit as the boys and girls in the school she attended in Mexico.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Hinton of Cuernavaca. Her father is general manager for an American firm in Mexico, also vice-president and general manager of a distributing firm.

Presbyterian Women Met Today

The Women's Association of the Carmel Presbyterian Church met all day today at the church. Sessions began this morning with a business meeting at 11:00 o'clock. Talks by Mrs. Helen Mears and Mrs. Thomas Koontz were given at noon. Luncheon was served at 1:00. Slides and a recording were on the program from 2:00-3:00. Mrs. Mears and Mrs. Koontz were the church's delegates to the First National Meeting of United Presbyterian Women at Purdue University this summer.

Guests at today's special meeting were women from El Estero Presbyterian Church and Monterey First Presbyterian Church. Silliman Circle provided the salad luncheon.

Nature Conservancy Officers

At the annual meeting of Monterey Bay Chapter of Nature Conservancy last Friday evening in Carmel High School music room the following officers were unanimously elected: John R. McDaniels, chairman; C. Edward Graves, vice chairman; Beatrice F. Howitt, secretary; Richard J. Swan, treasurer. New trustees of the organization are H. Robinson and Mr. Swan. Vern Yadon, head of the nominating committee, presented the slate. Mr. Graves conducted the meeting and reviewed activities of the organization during the past year.

Henry J. McCracken suggested that Nature Conservancy write to Secretary of the Interior Keith Udall and urge that a 702-acre parcel of Federal land that is coming up for sale be added to adjacent Ventana Wild Area in Los Padres National Forest.

Photographs of the Coast Highway taken by Philip Hyde for the Sierra Club were on display at the meeting. Dr. Herbert L. Mason of the University of California described his recent trip to New Zealand, illustrated with slides. The talk stressed both conservation quality and interest in New Zealand.

P-TA Members Want To Remedy Schools' Civil Defense Plan

A responsive audience filled Sunset School cafeteria last Tuesday evening to hear a panel discussion on the subject. Plans for Your Children in the Event of Nuclear Warfare or Natural Disaster. Sponsored by the Carmel Elementary P-TA, the objective of the program was to incite the interest of parents in an active civil defense plan, both at home and at school.

Mrs. Warren Edwards, P-TA chairman of Civilian Defense, pointed out that a well coordinated plan serves as insurance in case of disaster, and does require investment of time, plans, and money. She stated that the Peninsula is prone to such natural disasters as earthquakes, fires, and floods besides nuclear fall-out.

Wayne Greenfield presented the schools' plans for emergency preparation in the event of warning signals of Yellow or Red alerts. Transportation director Edward J. Goodrick amplified on the schools' program concerning the schedule for buses.

Fire Chief Robert Smith of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department emphasized the need for preparing and drilling children for disaster events and announced informative literature concerning practical items of necessity, such as food, clothing, and shelter can be obtained at the firehouse.

Panel members were bombarded with pertinent questions, and from these evolved two resolutions by the parents who were present: one, that the Carmel Elementary P-TA go on record that it sees an immediate need for a complete exercise for a Yellow and Red alert within all school premises; two, as moved by Jack Taylor, that the P-TA authorize the group's civil defense committee to review suggestions made and posed at the general meeting in conjunction with the Carmel School Defense Committee, also present to the executive board for consideration a civil defense plan designed to remedy and resolve these problems and to implement as many of these suggestions as can be done practically.

Interested persons who wish to enroll in an Individual and Family Survival Course may reach Mrs. Warren Edwards, P-TA Civilian Defense chairman, through the Carmel Adult Education program.

Kiwanis Club Needs Rummage

Members of the Carmel Kiwanis Club will pick up any articles persons wish to donate for their rummage sale at the American Legion Hall on October 14. All proceeds will be used for the club's scholarship fund. Each year Kiwanis members aid a needy Carmel High School graduate, either a boy or girl, with a college scholarship and continue this support each year while the student is in college. The annual Kiwanis Rummage Sale is the main source of money for this project.

Any person wishing to donate usable articles of any kind for this year's Kiwanis rummage sale may telephone the following numbers for pickup service: MA 4-6975; MA 4-7975; MA 4-8928; MA 4-6819

Letter . . .

P. O. Box 633,
Carmel, California
September 27, 1961

Editor, The Pine Cone:

While reports about our Youth Center swirl around contradicting each other, I have had the happy privilege of a glimpse at one aspect of their activities.

A few days ago I had the problem of finding two solidly-built boys to move a few pieces of furniture from one house to another on the same lot. I made one or two inquiries and at last called the Youth Center. Their manager put a young man named Mike on the phone, we made our arrangements, and the next day . . on time . . he appeared with a friend, another Mike. These two cheerful-faced, intelligent boys took care of my work quickly and well. When I came to pay them, they told me that whatever I wished to pay was a gift to the Youth Center, toward their campaign for operating funds.

Our Youth Center, of course, is a cross section of the young community and has its own trouble makers. But I believe that if we all . . . adults and young people . . . undertook to know each other better, and to work together for our community, that many of our mutual problems and prejudices would be met.

Sincerely,
Camilla Daniels

New York Music Critic Here

Alan Rich, music critic for the New York Times, came here last week to see Miss Winifred Howe, his music theory and analysis instructor when he attended the University of California, and who is now a Carmel Valley resident.

Mr. Rich, when he was music director for Station KPFA, Berkeley subscription radio station, arranged and supervised Bach Festival broadcasts in Carmel. He went East to become music director for all three Pacifica subscription stations but relinquished this position last spring to write music reviews for the Times. He was on the West Coast this month to cover for his paper the opening of the San Francisco Opera season and particularly the world premiere of Dello Joio's opera, Blood Moon.

Mrs. Daisy Taylor Here

Mrs. Daisy Taylor, a Carmel resident for 30 years before moving to Alhambra in 1950, is staying at the Homestead until tomorrow. She brought to Carmel with her for a week three friends with whom she lives in the PEO Sisterhood retirement home in Southern California. They are Miss Leah Crose, Mrs. Linda Tholman and Miss Harriet Obie. They all attended the potluck given by the local PEO chapter in Pacific Grove.

Gladys McCloud Urges Merchants To Fight Litter

Carmel merchants, aware that the beauty of the city is a business asset, are concerned about litter in the commercial district, especially on sidewalks, according to Mrs. Gladys McCloud, president of the Carmel Business Association.

Proprietors of the attractive shops for which the town is noted are constantly combatting the litter problem, she says. They sweep from in front of their premises and deposit in trash cans, almost daily, accumulations of paper such as small bags and cigarette packages, also other refuse carelessly dropped on sidewalks or deposited in planters despite city receptacles for litter placed in each block.

Merchants are responsible for the cleanliness of sidewalk areas in front of their stores, she points out. The city takes no responsibility for sidewalk cleanup.

As an encouragement to other merchants, owners of four businesses in her block have employed a man to hose and scrape the sidewalk once a week in front of their stores situated on the north side of Ocean Avenue between Mission and San Carlos Streets. This man has reported that the condition of this stretch of sidewalk during heavy shopping weeks is so bad that, in his opinion, it should be hosed and scraped more than once a week.

In addition to Mrs. McCloud, other firms supporting this project are Putnam and Raggett, Mediterranean Market and Carmel 5 & 10 Cent Store.

Mrs. McCloud says the ultimate hope of the proprietors of these four stores and the Business Association is that each block in the business district will organize and support similar sidewalk cleanup projects.

Individual shopkeepers scour sidewalks in front of their premises all over town, Mrs. McCloud emphasizes, but a citywide effort through block organization would eliminate the litter problem and ensure a clean city.

Robert E. Ross, Dolores Street real estate broker, has another suggestion. He thinks that if the city hired a man to clean sidewalks, clothed in clean coveralls and gave him a small cart and a broom, then had him cleaning city sidewalks each day, those who carelessly drop litter would be aware that the city is concerned with this problem. Mr. Ross thinks that merely seeing a city employe cleaning sidewalks is a deterrent to litterbugs. He cites the City of Stockton as an example of this method of keeping sidewalks unlittered.

Council Over-Rules Planning Board On Church School

The appeal of All Saints' Parish from the planning commission's school denial stated that the commission had not considered the temporary nature of the school (two years); the parish had not been given an opportunity to demonstrate the extent of use of their property for the school and regulations to avoid noise and disturbance to neighboring home-owners. Commissioners had not regarded the benefit of the school to the community; and had failed to consider properly a report from Commissioner Hugh Smith.

The planning commission in August denied the school on the grounds that they wished to preserve and protect the residential neighborhood; the specific duration, and extent of the number of pupils was not specific; and the school would adversely affect adjacent property values.

Last night Mr. Hill told the council this decision had deprived the parish of "The basic right as a church institution to use its facilities." He said that half a day a week in Sunday school was not enough for Christian training. Greater time for instilling basic Christian values and training was necessary. In conjunction with the 3Rs taught in school, decency, moral values and religious principles could best be learned. He assured councilmen that the play area at the school was surrounded by church buildings preventing undue noise to neighbors; that all exits and entrances to the school would be controlled. Traffic would be no problem, he continued, as parent car pools would transport pupils and only three or four teachers would park cars at the site. Student behavior would also be controlled, he edded. In answer to a question from Mr. Norberg, Mr. Hill stated that the number of children attending the school would be 20-25 pupils in two grades, kindergarten and first grade, for two years. He assured Mr. Chitwood that school terms would correspond to those of the public schools; teachers in the parochial school were accredited.

Following Mr. Hill's appearance, Mr. Whitaker asked the city clerk to read the Smith report to the council and the audience that filled the council chambers. Then Mr. Stewart presented the case for his clients.

He opened his remarks by saying that the original building permit for an addition to the church, now to be utilized in school plans, had been for offices and this addition cost $60,000.

Mr. Stewart protested Mr. Hill's statement, "We (the church) have the right to make full use of our facilities as we see fit."

"We live in rule by law," Mr. Stewart stated, "and what the community through due legal process sees fit." The school issue was not one that Mr. Hill alone could decide, Mr. Stewart contended. He believed the majority report of the planning commission which stated that the school was in conflict with the nature and character of the district surrounding the church should be upheld.

He maintained that the parochial school was not "something for Carmel," but benefited the Episcopal diocese and the Peninsula area. The school is now being operated on diocesan property in Pacific Grove, Mr. Stewart pointed out ,therefore the parish was not in the position of not being able to provide Christian education for the seven pupils now attending the school from Carmel. He declared that either school buses or cars driven by mothers would mean a traffic increase in the Carmel church area by bringing other pupils from outside the community.

"This school will change the neighborhood, create traffic problems and hazards. The planning commission acted correctly in their 4-1 vote. Their is no justification in my legal point of view for the school," he concluded.

Mr. Chitwood, prior to the vote onthe parish appeal, stated, "I appreciate the sentiments of the neighborhood and the church, too. I honor the intention of the church." He was referring in the latter remark to Mr. Hill's statement that there would be "no continued commitment" other than two year's operation of the school on All Saints' land. He moved that the decision of the planning commission be overruled. Mr. Norberg seconded this motion.

Mr. Whitaker before voting against the motion, endeavored to have any action delayed until a later meeting so that all taped evidence might be fully studied, and said, "A hurried decision should not go against the wishes of the residents of the church area. The church has their school problem solved." Overriding the planning commission denial worried him for this reason "What will these facilities (school) be used for at the end of two years?"

After the vote allowing the parochial school, Mr. Whitaker asked the council's public welfare committee to report at next Wednesday's council meeting on what restrictions for the parochial school use permit were desirable. These will be considered next week by the council, then remanded to the Board of Adjustments. Suggested were a length of time for the use permit; restriction on the number of pupils at the school; definition of the amount of area to be occupied by the school and number of hours permitted for use.

Later the council upheld planning commission decisions denying informational directional signs for the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, Laky Galleries and Galerie de Tours.

Board Dumps Youth Center After 12 Years, Four To One

ganization to the center, which is a private organization, but I question whether we should be committing public funds. However, I do not know the solution to this dilemma."

The board had said earlier in the summer that the center had been advised some time last year that it should not count on funds from the district this year.

Answering questions posed by Dr. Newton at a prior board meeting and brought up again last night. Mr. McCreery said no estimate could be made on what the center would earn from new concessions in the Del Monte Properties (the dog shows, Concours d'Elegance, and other events). He also said the center had to be conservative about estimates from the Crosby Tournament. Returns dropped on this at the recent tourney because one of the booths was removed from center operation.

"What the new concessions bring we can't tell," McCreery said, "but we hope—God knows we hope—they will bring $10,000 so it will put a stop to our appealing to this board and to the public for door-to-door solicitations. But you are asking questions we cannot answer because we haven't had the experience."

Other comments by McCreery concerned the center's role in the community. During his talk, he tossed a copy of last week's Pine Cone on the table around which the school board was seated and urged board members to read a history and appraisal of the center contained in the issue.

City Councilman John Chitwood, also speaking from the audience, appealed to the board to reverse the decision against issuing the funds made by the School Recreation Commission last week.

One other communication on the matter came from Mrs. Sue Ransome. In a letter addressed to the board she suggested the center director be supervised and screened by the school board, that the center membership be limited to students at Carmel High School only, that the center be closed to the teenagers during week nights, and that the school, under these conditions, ask the center to take over the bulk of its (the school's) social activities, freeing school facilities for other programs.

New Construction In Plaza Nullifies Garage Adams Says

Carmel planning commissioners approved two commercial buildings and a resolution establishing requirements and standards for fall-out shelters in the residence zone at their meeting yesterday afternoon. They denied an exterior Christmas lighting request from the Business Association. The buildings were a medical-dental building on the east side of Mission Street south of Ocean and a store and restaurant building across Mission Street on Carmel Plaza parking lot.

Issuance of a building permit for the Plaza development, Building Inspector Floyd Adams told commissioners, would nullify and supersede approval of an underground parking garage on the same site as two sets of plans and two approvals of structures on the same property cannot exist.

Last week, A. W. Clark, Carmel Plaza representative, stated that plans for the parking garage had not been abandoned by the Plaza Corporation and the 45x28 foot, three-story restaurant structure could be moved if the proposed garage were constructed.

The planning commission authorized issuance of a building permit for the garage. Litigation protesting this action resulted.

Fall-out shelters in the residence district shall be considered as accessary buildings, planners decided. They shall only be for single family occupancy for protection against nuclear radioactive fall-out blast, fire and heat, or chemical or biological warfare during fall-out, enemy attack or local or national emergency periods.

Site coverage requirement may be waived for shelters. They may exist in addition to other legal accessory buildings on a site. Setback and open space requirements must be met if any portion of the shelter is above ground, but underground shelters may be built without setbacks and open space requirements after a use permit is granted by the Board of Adjustments.

Size of each shelter shall be no larger than required for the family living on the building site, unless the board grants a use permit. A variance shall be obtained to convert any presently non-conforming structure into a shelter, also a parking facility or space left for parking on a site under the zoning law.

Planners allowed a front setback variance for Mrs. Vivian H. Culver's steep lot on Torres Street. They approved remodelling for an office in the building owned by Anita Doud on Fifth; a Carmel Plaza store; and Dr. Russell Pratt's office. Signs were approved for Carmel Kiddie Shop, Enos Fouratt, James Doud and Kent of Carmel. They promised investigation of a protest from Dr. Werner Pundt who said that a building under construction on Santa Rita Street was "too high and too close."

A 3-2 vote denied the request of the Business Association for merchants to hang strings of colored lights on the exterior of their premises during the Christmas season.

occupied by school activities. During the school year the Youth Center limits its activities which would tend to distract the students from their studies.

"My great interest in the Youth Center stems from my collateral duty as police commissioner and I know definitely that, having seen Carmel both before and after the institution of the Youth Center, that the Youth Center now, and as it is presently operated, fulfills an absolutely necessary need both for the youth and for Carmel itself.

"My thanks to KMBY for the privilege of speaking on a matter of general interest to the Carmel area."

Symphony To Premiere Work By Buhler, P. G. Composer

A world premiere is scheduled as one of the highlights of the 1961-62 Monterey County Symphony season which will open October 16-17. The work by composer Philip Buhler, a resident of Pacific Grove, was especially commissioned for the symphony, and will be performed at one of the mid-winter concerts.

This year, under the baton of its new resident conductor, John Gosling, the orchestra will expand its usual four concert series to five. Increasing public demand for additional performances has resulted in the scheduling ofthe extra concert on the Monterey and Salinas series.

In addition to the first performance of the Buhler work, the West Coast premiere of a descriptive piece by George Thaddeus Jones will also be presented. The work entitled A Poem for Peace won the 1961 Benfamin award for contemporary compositions. Several guest artists will also be heard during the year. They are soloists Joel Andrews, harp, Raymond Fabrizio, flute; and the Hartnell-Community Chorus. The winner of the Regional Music Competition, now in progress, will also be featured on one of the programs.

In addition to the five concerts series scheduled for Monterey and Salinas, the Monterey County Symphony will also perform one concert in King City, and will present free Children's Concerts here and in Salinas in March, 1962. The Youth Concerts are presented in cooperation with the Monterey Peninsula League and the Music Departments of the public schools.

Season tickets for the series are on sale and a heavy demand for tickets has been reported. Season subscribers are reminded that they have until September 30, to renew their locations. After that date all seats will be released to new subscribers. However, good locations are available and interested persons are asked to place their orders as soon as possible.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.
